The Annual Report 2004/2005 highlights the increasing number of initiatives undertaken by the EMI and the enhancement of its unique network of member organisations. In addition, it shows that the EMI continues to play a major role in developing active European Citizenship and in spreading European values.

The European Movement International is by far the largest pro-European organisation with members in 41 countries across Europe and 20 international member organisations including various political and other interest groups. It continues to expand its membership and to increase its effectiveness.

The EMI has committed itself to informing European citizens about the European Constitution and together with the Young European Federalists, it has engaged itself in the “Yes-campaign” supporting a Yes vote for the constitution.

After having initially focused on internal European issues, the EM launched a North-South Mediterranean dialogue with the civil societies of Northern African countries. This dialogue aims to bring together people from North and South, and enjoys much acclaim and support from all European institutions, North African States, the Arab League, the United Nations etc.

The EMI's trans-national projects have already reached several millions of people. Its mission continues in 2005 with a number of new information and education campaigns aimed at promoting European standards and increasing European awareness.

The EMI and its members form a unique network which can speak with one voice and is a major pressure group capable of mobilising a large number of citizens to support a more united Europe.

Together with its members, the EMI is creating a pan-European professionalism and is working to increase efficiency in fulfilling future tasks and challenges.

The European Movement realises that its mission to lobby for a united Europe, based on the respect for basic human rights and the principles of a representative and participative democracy, and solidarity in a Social Market Economy, is valid as ever before.

2 | EMI ACTIVITIES

The activities of the EMI focused on two main themes.

I. MAKING ITS VOICE HEARD ON THE EUROPEAN STAGE

A. YES Campaign

"The only transnational civil society campaign in favour of the European Constitution."

In the weeks prior to the signing of the European Constitution in Rome in October 2004, the European Movement and the Young European Federalists (JEF-Europe), both strong supporters of further European integration, decided to launch a transnational civil society campaign in favour of the European Constitution.

The main goal of the YES Campaign is to support national campaigns and to introduce the European dimension into these campaigns because this element is all too often lost in the heat of the national debate. The Yes Campaign aims to motivate national partners (EMI Councils, JEF sections and other groups and membership organisations) by providing the means to pass on the experience gained from each referendum. It also organises training events for activists and ensures that all relevant information is available on the national level.

The YES Campaign was launched just before the Spanish referendum campaign in January 2005, joined by numerous other civil society partners, who together form the YES Platform: ADEK International, European Association of Teachers (EAT), AEGEE, The European Foundation for Street Children Worldwide (EFSCW), European Trade Union Confederation (ETUC), The Union of European Federalists (UEF), Women Citizens of Europe Network (RCE) and many more.

A special website has been launched as the main tool of the YES Campaign: www.yes-campaign.net. It serves as a resource centre for campaigners, offering many campaigning tools, providing Europe-wide coverage of Constitution news, and operating as a virtual forum for debate.

B. Training Academy

In 2004, the European Movement decided to intensify its information and training action and to found a Training Academy. The specific international profile and, correspondingly, the qualitative excellence of the training contents offered by the European Movement are the principal assets presented via an introductory information brochure and a dedicated website (www.acad-EMI.org).

The profile and expertise of the Acad-EMI is reinforced by the creation of an Advisory Council of high-ranking personalities, to provide strategic orientation and visibility, and an Academic Committee of prestigious lecturers and practitioners, to provide curricular advice.

The services of the Acad-EMI are predominantly targeted at executives, lawyers, economists etc. or young diplomats and civil servants who want to enrich their background knowledge about the EU and the functioning of its institutions or to invest in specialized knowledge to advance their career.

Currently, the Academy offers courses such as:

- a two-day introductory EU information event.
- a one-week Summer Academy providing an in-depth understanding of how the "European machinery" functions, and a detailed examination of current European issues.
- tailor-made seminars for professionals or young graduates on a variety of thematic modules concerning specific fields of EU policy and including networking and lobbying techniques.

C. North South Mediterranean Dialogue

In 2004, the European Movement International increased its involvement with the various actors present in the field of relations between the European Union and its Mediterranean neighbours.

In November 2004, following a preliminary analysis, a preparatory conference “North-South Mediterranean Dialogue” was organised in Malta. It took place under the patronage of the president of the European Parliament, the Secretary General of the Council of Europe and the Secretary General of the League of Arab States. In addition to the EMI representatives, approximately 30 observers attended the conference, including representatives from the Luxemburg EU-presidency, the European Commission, the European Investment Bank, the North-South Centre of the Council of Europe, the World Bank, UNESCO, etc. as well as participants from civil societies from countries North and South of the Mediterranean.

The Malta meeting confirmed that the EMI should undertake a common initiative together with the Mediterranean civil society organisations in order to define realistic lines of action on the basis of a genuine North-South Dialogue. Furthermore, it is necessary to preserve the specificity of the Euro-Mediterranean partnership contained in the framework of the EU Neighbourhood Policy in an enlarged Europe.

Three exploratory missions were undertaken in early 2005, to Egypt, Morocco and Algeria. Furthermore, an agreement was reached with the Bibliotheca Alexandrina to co-organise a Congress together with the EMI and a host country. This Congress is planned to take place in mid-September 2005.

D. Future of Europe in the World

In March 2005, the EMI working group on the future of the EU chaired by Juha Mustonen, EM Finland, organised a workshop in the European Parliament entitled “The EU and the UN Millennium Challenge”. This workshop, chaired by Jo Leinen, MEP and Vice-President of the EMI, involved dialogue on the Helsinki Process and the Commission for Africa. It was concluded that the Helsinki Process supports the aims of the UN Millennium Declaration and shares the aim of “effective multilateralism”, as highlighted in the European Security Strategy. The working group is now planning a seminar in September 2005 in conjunction with the Helsinki Conference.

E. Welcoming the new Legislature

In November 2004, the EMI welcomed the new members of the European Parliament and the new Commissioners, especially those from the new EU member states, to a specially organised reception, which was held under the patronage, support and presence of the President of the European Parliament, Mr Josep Borrell. Also invited were the diplomatic corps in Brussels. The reception was attended, among others, by the Vice-President of the European Commission, Mr Jacques Barrot, as well as many MEPs, ambassadors and officials from the European Commission. A special brochure “The Vision for Europe” was produced for this event.

F. Open Doors in the EU Institutions

On the 1st May 2004 and on the 30th April 2005, the EU institutions held their annual Open Day and the EMI organised information stands in the European Parliament, where it presented its activities to the general public. EMI Publications were distributed and all the EMI's information campaigns were presented.

II. INCREASING COOPERATION WITH NATIONAL COUNCILS AND MEMBER ORGANISATIONS

The President and the Secretary-General have increased their presence at events at the national level and have built on relations with international members. The aim of this activity is to strengthen solidarity between members.

In 2004/2005, visits took place to Austria, France, Kaliningrad, Germany, The Netherlands, Moldova, Lithuania, Ireland, Italy, Hungary, UK, Czech Republic, Cyprus, Egypt, FYR Macedonia, Switzerland, Algeria, Romania, and Turkey.

In 2004/2005, the EMI received applications for membership from: Albania, Armenia and Russia.

At the Federal Council in Malta in November 2004, the Permanent Forum of Civil Society became an associate member of the EMI.

A. EMI internal meetings

(The list of resolutions, press releases and documents may be found in chapter 3)

1. Federal Council

The Federal Council met twice in 2004, on the 26th and 27th of June in Dublin and on the 26th and 27th of November in Malta. It also met in Luxembourg on the 10th and 11th June 2005.

The main items on the agenda were the future of the European Union, Enlargement, the European Constitution Yes Campaign, the European elections, and the Mediterranean Dialogue (see Resolutions page. 6).

2. Steering Committee

The Steering Committee ensures the political follow-up of the organisation. It met six times in 2004-2005. Major position papers and press statements focused on all the major policies of the EMI and were prepared by its relevant working groups:

- Future of Europe in the world
- Constitutional Affairs
- Mediterranean Dialogue
- Enlargement

3. Secretaries-General

The Secretaries-General of the National Councils and Member Organisations met five times in 2004/2005. During these meetings, a programme of action based on the priorities set by the European Commission was elaborated upon, and the decisions of the Federal Council were executed.

Working groups were created on:

- 9th of May – Europe Day Project
- Enlargement
- Management Group
- Traineeship Programme

In August 2004, the Berlin Initiatives Management group was conceived with the European Movement Germany. Its aim is to assess and improve the European Movements' organisation, communications and levels of professionalism.

4 | TRANS-NATIONAL PROJECTS
CO-ORDINATED BY THE EMI

4 | TRANS-NATIONAL PROJECTS CO-ORDINATED BY THE EMI

9TH OF MAY 2005

Europe-wide celebration of Europe Day

Building on the success of the past three years, the EMI coordinated the Europe Day Project in 2005 and succeeded in extending the number of participating countries, from 16 in 2002, to 18 in 2003, 25 in 2004, and 27 in 2005. The combination of traditional and interactive project activities based on a “learning by fun” principle has proved once again to be a successful methodology upon which to base the project. 21 direct partners with a range of local and national supporting organisations participated and a series of innovative actions were developed.

Project in brief:

- ❖ 27 European countries were involved in co-operation with the National Councils and International Member Organisations of the EMI. Local and national supporting organisations were also involved
- ❖ More than 200 activities including radio and TV programmes, concerts, bicycle rallies, Eurotrams, debates, street balls, lectures, information stands, simulation games, essay and painting competitions, photo competitions, and exhibitions
- ❖ The Annual “European Contribution of the Year Award” reflecting engagement in the European integration process was organised in participating countries. This Europe-wide public award proved to be an effective tool to strengthen and highlight both the trans-national nature and the symbolic meaning of the project
- ❖ More than 10 million people reached through extensive media coverage
- ❖ A final brochure produced in autumn 2005

9th of May celebrations in Brussels

9TH OF MAY 2004

Europe-wide celebration of Europe Day

The celebrations of the Europe Day 2004 coordinated by the EMI were special as they were the first in the enlarged European Union of 25 Member States. A wide range of events were organised to celebrate this momentous occasion and additional emphasis was placed on the 2004 European Parliament elections. Three main results have been achieved: broad geographical coverage, a large audience reached and an increasing number of best practices shared and common skills developed.

Project in brief:

- ❖ Celebrations in 25 European countries in co-operation with the National Councils of the EMI
- ❖ Approximately 200 activities including radio and TV programmes, debates, lectures, information stands, simulation games, essay and painting competitions, photo competitions, concerts and exhibitions
- ❖ The awarding of the most significant “European Contribution of the Year” in all countries participating in the project
- ❖ Millions of people reached through extensive media coverage « The awarding of the most significant « European Contribution of the Year » in all countries participating in the project provided a common message and concrete memorial to the historical “declaration” by Robert Schuman on the 9th of May 1950.
- ❖ A final brochure was produced and widely distributed to the project partners, other National Councils, Member Organisations and European institutions

“myEurope@home” “Young People to Young People: building a European identity in an enlarged Union”

This new trans-national project led by the EMI with the support of the European Commission (DG Enlargement), aims to develop young people’s awareness of the enlargement process and European identity. The target group is young people from 17 to 25 years old, living in regions, towns and municipalities of Europe, where information about the European integration process is less prevalent or where borders make the themes of Europe and enlargement particularly crucial. The project, which began in May 2005 will last 12 months and includes hundreds of events across Europe.

Project in brief:

- ❖ More than 20 countries directly involved including EU Member States and EU candidate countries
- ❖ Three thematic frameworks 1) increasing knowledge about the enlargement process; 2) raising awareness of European values, common traditions and the meaning of European citizenship; 3) promotion of active involvement of young people in the discussion on the future of Europe
- ❖ More than 150 activities, including radio and TV programmes, debates & lectures, opinion polls, training seminars and workshops, essay and photo competitions, simulation games and educational activities
- ❖ Project website provides background information on the enlargement process, project sponsors, project partners and a detailed calendar of activities organised in the framework of the project. The website is interactive and contains a discussion forum for opinions on the European Union and the Enlargement process
- ❖ International competition (Art and Writing competition) launched in May 2005 in the context of: “My Europe: identity, problems, doubts and fears in an enlarged Europe”. The idea is to develop a way to raise awareness about the EU amongst young people using the exchange and comparison of their identities as the main vehicle

- ❖ Youth oriented online newspaper, called “Enlargement Times”, written by young people for young people, to be launched in October 2005. It will last four months and will take the form of a bi-weekly production

Millions of people will be reached through extensive media coverage at both national and international level.

“ENLARGE YOUR KNOWLEDGE” Europe-wide information campaign on enlargement

In December 2004, the European Movement concluded this trans-national information and consultation campaign aimed at raising public awareness and support for the EU enlargement among citizens in the “old” EU Member States. The activities organised in the framework of the project, (e.g. the “Enlargement Rally” in Brussels, which opened up over 70 places of interest to the general public, all connected to one or more of the ten new EU member states) were considered highly successful and attracted a large number of participants.

Project in brief:

- ❖ 15 project partners in 11 countries from Ireland to Greece
- ❖ More than 100 activities including radio and TV programmes, debates & lectures, concerts, outdoor events, competitions and film evenings etc.
- ❖ Special project website including background information on enlargement, reports on project activities, quiz on enlargement, opinion polls, special “Focus on” section.
- ❖ DVD “Coming home to Europe” – short video-clips on the 10 new EU member states available on DVD or through the project website
- ❖ Several million people reached through extensive media coverage at the national and international level
- ❖ Two video-conferences between project partners

5 | COMMUNICATING EUROPE ONLINE

The website of the European Movement International is a communications tool designed to involve European citizens and to connect the EMI network in the most effective way possible.

The website has progressively become an interactive reference tool for the implementation of trans-national projects, advocacy campaigns, the European Neighbourhood Policy, and education and training programmes. The website also incorporates the EMI's own network of national councils and member organisations.

As a result of the upgrading of the website and the creation of a number of new online tools such as the satirical 'What has Europe ever done for us' interactive information initiative (45,000 visitors in 5 months), the web portal for the 'YES' campaign for the European Constitution (50,000 visitors in 5 months) and the Training Acad-EMI, the number of online visitors has continued to increase.

In 2004, over 64,000 people visited the EMI website and this is set to increase dramatically, taking into account that the number of visitors for the first 4 months of 2005 was over 55,000.

Furthermore, it contains information on the:

- ❖ EMI History, mission and key themes
- ❖ Structure of the EMI (including the geographical division of national councils and member organisations)
- ❖ Contact information for the EMI staff, EMI national councils and our member organisations
- ❖ Description of activities organised by the EMI and its national councils at local and international level
- ❖ List of documents produced by the EMI (resolutions, press releases etc.) divided by subject
- ❖ Up-to-date EMI news

The website contains a restricted "Members Area" which gives members the following options:

- ❖ To read internal documents related to EMI internal meetings (agenda and minutes of meetings, guidelines for projects, etc.)
- ❖ To insert events organised at the national level in the "Calendar of Events" on the website
- ❖ To actively participate in the work of the EMI working groups for which they have registered
- ❖ To have access to the chat area for online meetings
